Check out the web site. While I've only heard back from a few on the proposed logo, I've moved forward with it, though can be replaced or color changed.

While far from complete, I'm slowly making progress on the content. David Nelson is writing up the "History". I need to resurrect and revise interactive maps for Virtual Tour and explore the initial video collected. I need to settle on a consistent font.

I found that I can create "Password-Protected" pages and will be exploring this feature.

While there's still much to do, please be brutally honest and provide feedback. The content should automatically resize for phone, tablet and standard desktop display.
